

RESEARCH2REALITY

Shining a light on research & innovation.

Can The World Be Cancer-Free?

Transcript of Voiceover Narration

In a perfect world it would never affect your friends. Your family. Your loved ones.

In a perfect world you'd never think about cancer.

Thankfully Canadian university researchers are making today's research, tomorrow's reality; who are designing therapies that will attack the root of inoperable brain cancer; who are creating isotopes that not only see inside the disease but deliver treatment specifically to affected cells; and working directly with patients to implement new stem cell therapies firsthand.

Canadian researchers are making lives better.

Come meet them!